COMING ELECTIONS. The Washington Star gives a list of seven Northern States holding elections this Fall. It is as follows: Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota. With the exception of New Jersey all these States were carried by the Republicans in the last Presidential election. Now all of them are regarded as doubtful, though the Republicans feel reasonably sure of Minnesota and Iowa. With the exception of New York and Pennsylvanua all the States named will elect Governors and State officers. In Mass achusetts it is already evident that Gov Butler will again be the Democratic candidate. In Ohio and Iowa, Ligislatures are to be chosen that will have to elect a United States Senator, each In Pennsylvania only two minor State officers will be elected, while in Yew York the most important State officers. below the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, are to be chosen. In Iowa the liquor question has been made the main issue of the canvass, and it is this that throws what uncertainty there ex ists over the result. The Republican party has planted itself upon an absolute prohibitory platform. It is pledged, in the event of its success, to fix prohibition firmly into the State Constitution. This has alienated the mass of the German voters, who have in past yearbeen one of the elements of Republican strength in the State. It has also weakened the party along the Mississippi River tier of counties where the principal brewing and distilling business of the State is located. But it is claimed that this loss will, in a great measure, be compensated for by recruits from Temperance Democrats. The Irish temperance organizations in Iowa number many thousands of voters who are principally Democrats. It is said that these organizations sympa! hize so strongly with the prohibition movement that, as it has been made a positive political issue, they will vote the Republican ticket in order to assure its success. The Democrat organs and leaders deny that there is any defection from their party on account of the liquor question, and base their hopes of victory upon the expectation of getting the German yote, and the aid and support of brewers, distillers and all others interested in the liquor business. In Minnesota the Prohibitionists are already in the field with a full State ticket, and a platform condemning both the old parties. The Democrats claim that this movement will draw its support almost entirely from the Republicans, but even concede that, it is not likely to weaken that party enough to cost it the State. It is true that there are factional differ-

The plaintiff is a stockholder in the Manhattan Silver Mining Co., of which the defendants are the Directors, and the action was to recover damages fo remissuess on the part of the defendants in failing to cause to be posted in the office of the Company in San Francisco the affairs Superintendent.

Denis Kearney Chailenged to Debate.

Woo Chin Foo writes the New York Sun as follows: "I wish to challenge Denis Kearney to a public debate to be kept by him, if possible, within the bounds of decency, on a comparison of the Chinese and Irish nation, their arts, their sciences, their morals, their his tory, their literature, their influence, and their personal cleanliness. That Kearney may not have to beg the price of his hall, as usual, I pledge myself to contribute half the cost of the building.

The jury in the case of ex-Treasurer Polk, of Tennessee, brought in a verdict of guilty of empezzlement, fixing the penalty at imprisonment in the penitentiary for twenty years, andimposing a fine equal to the full amount of the embezziement.

The New York World suggest a Cabinet for President Arthur which includes U. S. Grant for Secretary of State; John P. Jones of Nevada for Secretary of the Treasury, and George C. Gorham for Secretary of the Navy. But Presi-dent Arthur already has a Cabinet something which the author of this suggestion seems to have overlookedmoreover, is perfectly satisfied with it.—Alta

MECRETARY TELLER

His Opinion of the Indian Problem—Senator Hill's Attack— Land Grants.

CHICAGO, July 26th .- Henry M. Teller, Secretary of the Interior, stopped over in Chicago Wednesday on his way to Colorado. He said that outside of Crook's captured Apaches there was no dissatisfaction among the Indians about reservations and locations. The problem of how to deal with the red man was fast obtaining solution, and it was found in education and following agricultural pursuits. The day had gone by when the proposition to turn the Indians over to the guidance of the army could be seriously entertained. Speaking of Senator Hill's attack on him through the newspapers a short ume ago, the Secretary said the Senutor flew into a passion unnecessarily, and that if he decided to become a candidate for the United States Senate he dad not think he would be injured in the estimation of the people of Colorado by anything Senator Hill might say. There was nothing further going to be ione about the land grants to those railroads which were never built, except on paper. Decisions of his predecessors in office were to the effect that the grant was absolute to the parties provided for in law, and could be held by them, the building of the road being an extraneous consideration. He did not desire to overrule his prededessors. Possibly a remedy to recover the lands under the so-called "lapsed grants" might be found in Congress or in the Courts. On political matters the Secretary thought all the creditable things said of President Arthur were deserved, and it was but natural that his name should come up in connection with the next Presidency. Secretary Teller will return from his visit to Colorado in about ten days.

THE WALKER BIVER RESERVATION.

The Hawthorne Bulletin says:

Public opinion is gaining strength against the further maintenance of the Walker River Reservation, The Indians seldom live upon it and use it so little that it is practically abandoned by all but the Government employes. The Pyramid Lake fisheries are better for the Indians, as there are no seasons when fish can not be caught, and market men can depend upon Indians catching enough to supply them. Fishing in Walker Lake is intermittent, and while very valuable under white manigement, can not be depended upon for a market supply when under the control of the shiftless Indian. Consequently, buyers for the market are not leady to take the Walker Lake catch. They might supply customers one day and fail the next. The Pyramid Reservation is large enough for all purposes, is the favorite and is the home of the ludians. This is really useless, but, if abandoned, would immediately become valuable for many purposes.

Indians are making money working for the whites. The sum displayed on their blankets when they are gambling is sufficient evidence of this. make nothing scarcely from the lake as they do not use it. When they fish they go to Pyramid, where there is an immediate market for all they catch. In fact, this reservation is a tract of valuable mineral and agricultural land. surrounding a beautiful lake, carefully tied up with red tape and deposited in a pigeon-hole in the State Department.

A MINE SOLD .- Reports reach us through reliable sources from Osceola that the Monroe and Linton mine, located at that place, has been sold to Chas. Tozier of San Erancisco, The purchase price is not stated, but it is thought to be about $25,000. Machinery for a mill is on the road by way of Sait Lake. The mill will be located within a few hundred yards of the mine. If the mill proves a success there is a bright future before Osceola. It will come prominently to the front as did Bodie.

NEVADA VINE CUETURE.

A Profitable Industry That Should be Inngurated in Nevada.

It has long been a question as to whether grapes could be grown successfully on this side of the mountains. Thinking a profitable industry in that line, might be established, the Central Pacific Railroad Company offered free transportation for cuttings to any person in Nevada who would try the experiment. While no one availed themselves of that offer, nevertheless the expeniment has been tried, and in almost every instance with perfect success; especially is this the case in Reno where the experiment has been more M. generally tried than elsewhere in the county. At the residences of Dr. Hogan, Henry Orr, A. B. Williams, Charley Becker and many others are large grape bowers literally loaded with fruit. It is found that late frests do not effect the grape, for the reason that the vines do not bloom until late in the season when there is no longer any danger of There is no longer a doubt but that grapes can be successfully grown in Nevada, yet no one thus far has attempted to make it a business, but the time is not far distant when many of now making a questionable living rais-H. J. Thyos is back from Donner ing hay and giain will turn their attention to grapes and make money. Grape orchards in California yield to the owners a net profit each year of from $50 to $150 per nore, and the same result can be accomplished in Novada.

LEE'S STABLES.

One of Beno's Leading Business Establishments.

The external appearance of the hay, gram and feed stable of L. W. Lee, on Fourth street, is not especially imposing, and yet, it is one of the most claborate institutions of the kind in the State. The building is built of brick and stone, two stones high. The upper story is fitted up to superb style and occupied as a family residence by L. W. Lee, the proprietor, and sleeping rooms for his employees. The stable room in the lower story and buildings connected with it afford ample quarters for 250 anim als, and room enough in the sheds for as many more. Inside of the stable yard there are four l'arge barns, capable of housing several hun died tons of hay. East of the yard is a large stock corral, provided with feeding race's, watering troughs etc., and from this a substantial gate-way leads to and over the p. latform of a large Fambank Scale where cuttle are weighed, thence opening into an adjoining corral. There is a first class harness shop in the building where all kinds of work in that line is done. The institution is systematically nuo and exhibits a refreshing air of thriftings in every department.

Allandsome Monument.

Charles Johnson and his sister, Mrs. Jennie Lewis, are having a handsome monument constructed to adorn the grave of their brother, the late John Johnston, in the Odd Fellow's cemetery The material from which the monument is constructed is obtained from the quarry north of town. It is susceptible of a very high piolish and is pionounced in every respect superior to the Rock-Dr. Harris, of Virginia, one of the in grante. The work is being done by John Courtney.

Smoke in the East.

The fire in the timber above V. ordi consed burning several days ago, and yet the smoke arising therefrom 15 quito dense 200 miles east of here. Newt Evans says a dense cloud of smoke hangs like a pallor over a large area of country around Iron Point, and as there has been no fire at any place between here and there the conclusion is enevitable that it arose from the Vordi fire.

The Very Best. The Very Biggest Growth of the Grand Army of the or All the Big Ones.-There Must Be a Leader, and He is John Robinson.

The oldest showman of them all. His fifty-ninth year before the people. Seventy-seven years of age. ' He comes out ten times greater. Ten times more majestic, and ten times finer than any other show the san shines on. By reason of his recent purchase in Europe of ten of the largest shows in the world. There are 1 to the neighborhood of twenty circuses in America, and about ten in Europe, (for since John Robinson purchased ten of the largest in that country it has reduced the number over one-half) and one or two others in various parts of the world, Of these, the largest and best known is the John Robinson Show, which exhibits in Reno Aug., 9th. It was first started in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-four, fifty-nine years ago. The first combined oncus and menagerie the world ever knew or ever heard of. And it has always been nuder the control of John Robinson from that far distant day until the present time, and to-day it represents the small farmers in Nevada who are more invested capital, employs more artists, agents and laborers and performers; has more wild beasts, larger tents, more scaling capacity, and is altogether and in every respect three times as large as any other combined exhibitions on earth. Don't forget the day.

The Summet House Victim

Frank Rager, who, with this father, lived in Reno several years ago, is the name of the young man who was shot in the face by Joe Dyson, at the Summit House on the Sierra Valley road, last Tuesday. A gentleman just in from there says young Rager will come out all right. The ball struck the cheek bone and glanced off, and while it may disfigure his face to some extent is in fine condition and bide fan to inwill leave, no serious results. Dyson clude every veteran on the island. feels very much gireved at the unfortunate aftair. His shot was aimed at the Indian, yet he fully realizes the dreadful result that might have occurred from his almost unpardonable circlesquess. In future he will probably think twice before he shoots.

ARTESIAN WELLS

A Cheap Way in Which to Get a Supply of Pure Water.

[Enterprise, 26th] There is complaint of a great scarcity of good water for domestic and other oniposes both at Carson City and at Re uo. With all the howling and growlhowever, no one does anything to-ing, however, no one does anything to-ward se earing a supply of water. Both towns are so situated that artesian wells are sure to be A success. At Carson they know, rom nettral experiment, that they can got flowing wells at a depth of less than 200 feet. At Reno the same success would doubtless attend the boring of wells. There, too, it would suem that something is tikely to be done. The Journan of yeste, day morning says:

A prominent business man has been investigating the matter since, and has concluded to make an effort to organize a joint stock company for the purpose of trying the experiment at some suita-ble point in the county, to be hereafter determined opon. He is nov in correspondence with parties in the East who make well-boring a business, and in a short time can make an intelligent estimate of the cost.

Denver, Colorado, long suffered for want of pure water, but recently some man of that place had the courage to start an artesian well. At a triffing depth—less than 300 feet—he got a fine flow of excellent water. Now others have followed his lead and flowing wells are abundant.

At Sait Lake City the same thing has o courred. In regard to what has been done near the place the Tribune of a recent date says :

Since Mr. Gilmer demonstrated that the purest water can'd be obtained by sinking artesian wells across the river, his neighbors have foll swed his example with the best results. Fine flowing wells have been obtained at a depth of from 150 to 200 feet, and where the surfuce was nothing but alkali, trees and grass are now growing, and the settlers are now beginning to look upon this as their strongest and best land. The day is not distant when all the land on other side of the river will be brought under a high state of cultivation means of these wells.

The river referred to is doubtless the Jordan, therefore the situation at Reno or Causon would not be very different, both places being in valleys surrounded by high hills and mountains. John Hamilton, or Mill Creek, Utah, has a fine flowing well that is but sevenly feet deep. We are confi deut that pure water in eys by sinking artesian wells. Even in the alkan deserts and salt and borax maishes pure water will be found in depth. Recently at Tower City, Dakota, in boring an artesian well, at the depth of 500 feet salt water was reached. Fresh water, mitted with quicksa td., was found at 604 feet, and at 675 feet pure water flowed in a sleadily increasing quantity.

At the Columbus salt marsh, in this State, a well was sunk through a hardpan to a sufficient depth to show that below it lay pure, fresh water. Battle Mountaın, Nevada, is full of artesian wells and in a year or two it is probable that the same may be said of Carson, Reno. Genoz, Hawthorne and other towns.
